JOHN BURROUGHS

REVIEW

1938

Senior Issue

Published annually by the students of
The John Burroughs School, Clayton,
Missouri, June, 1938.

Foreword

This volume is your 1937 - 38 Senior Issue of the John Burroughs Review. It has been our desire, throughout the year, to build a book which will serve as a permanent record of this school year. Yesterday this book was ours to fashion as we pleased; today it is yours. May it keep bright these memories of John Burroughs School for many years to come.

Dedication

This volume of the Review is affectionately dedicated to the memory of John Burroughs on the one hundred and first anniversary of his birth and the fifteen anniversary of this school, which stands as a memorial to the ideals and beliefs which he represented.

Waiting

Serene, I fold my hands and wait,
Nor care for wind, or tide, or sea,
I rave no more 'gainst time or fate,
For lo! my own shall come to me.

I stay my haste, I make delays,
For what avails this eager pace?
I stand amid the eternal ways,
And what is mine shall know my face.

Asleep, awake, by night or day,
The friends I seek are seeking me;
No wind can drive my bark astray,
Nor change the tide of destiny.

What matter if I stand alone?
I wait with joy the coming years;
My heart shall reap where it has sown,
And garner up its fruit of tears.

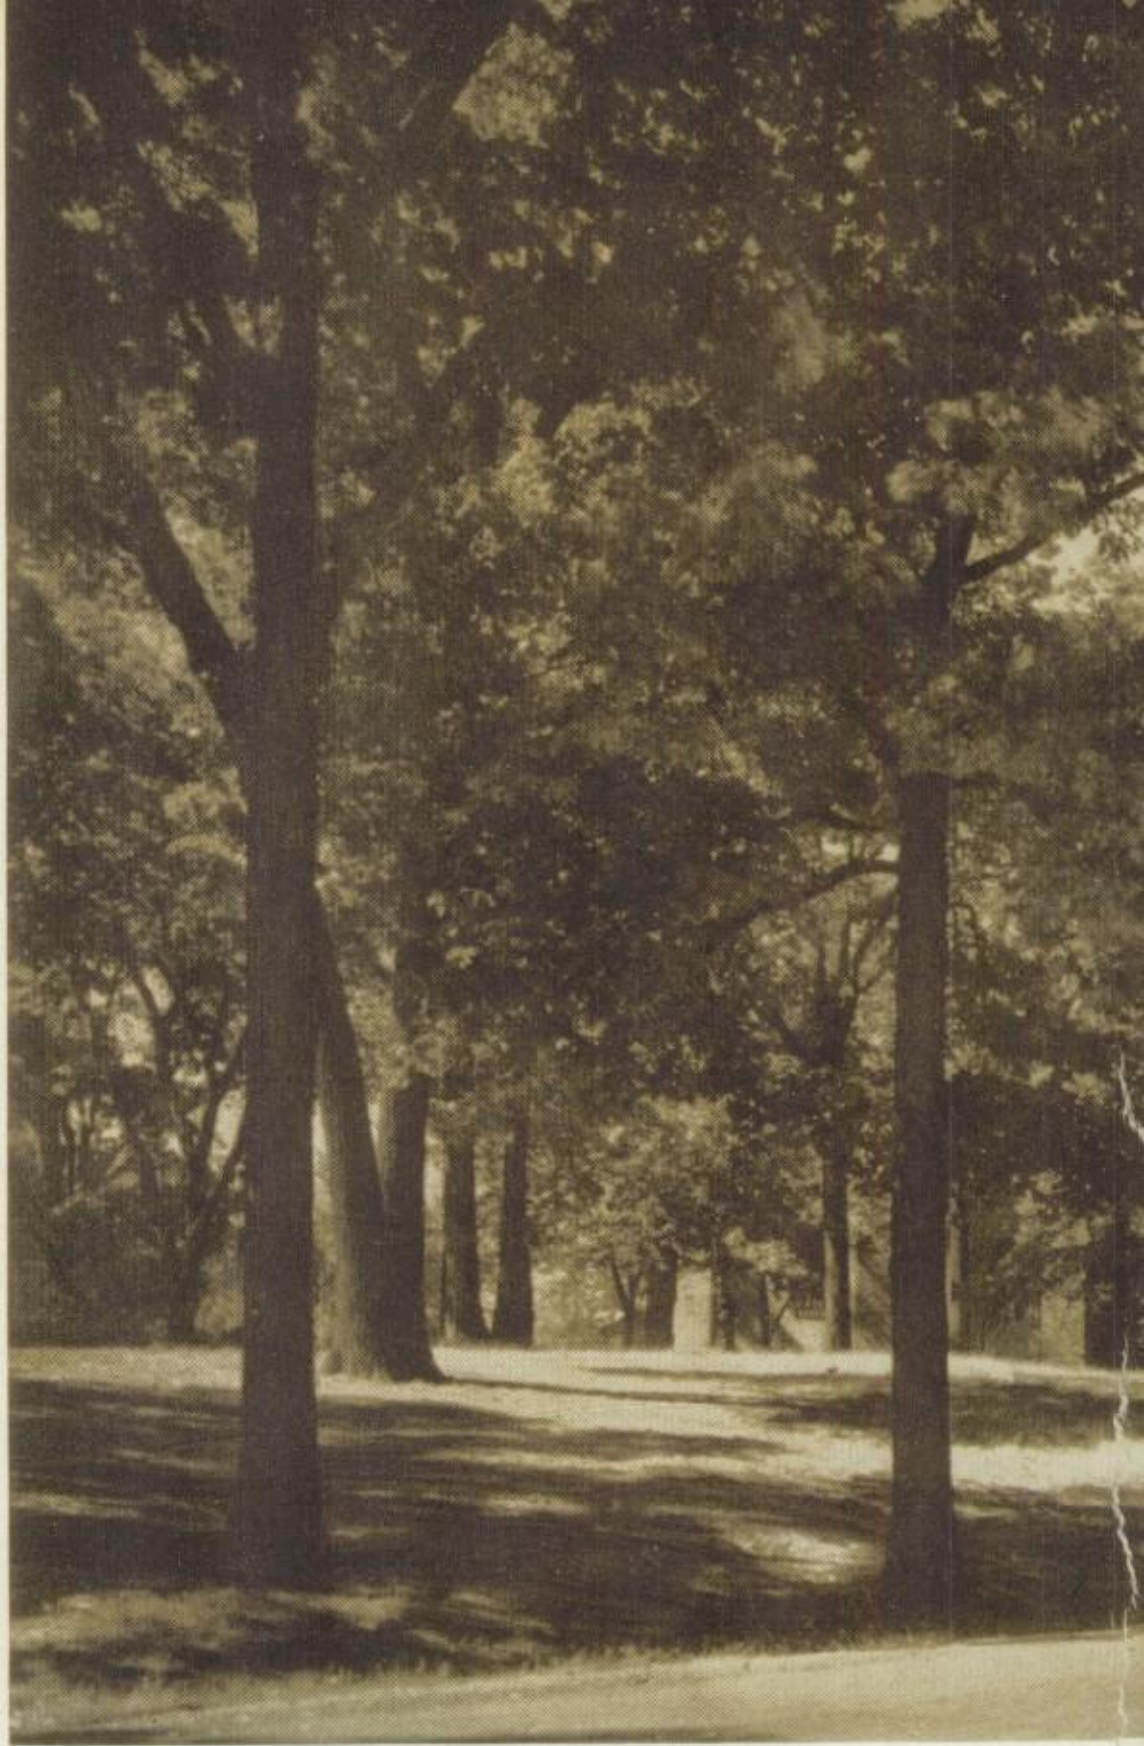

The waters know their own and draw
The brook that springs in yonder height;
So flows the good with equal law
Into the soul of pure delight.

The stars come nightly to the sky,
The tidal wave unto the sea;
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me.

John Burroughs.

THE JOHN
SCHOOL

The John Burroughs School is attractively located on an eighteen-acre tract of playgrounds and woods. In addition to the main buildings, there are two football fields, two hockey fields, five tennis courts, an amphitheatre for outdoor assemblies, a gymnasium, shop, and Little Theatre.

Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees, consisting of seventeen members, is the advisory body of the school. It was such a group that was responsible for the organization of John Burroughs in 1923. Of this original Board, one member, Mrs. Ernest Stix, remains.

The Board meets once each month of the school year to discuss the current problems concerning the school. An important question discussed this year is the proposed building program.

Front row: left to right—Mr. J. J. Van Dyke, Mrs. Ralph Bixby, Dr. Evarts Graham, Mrs. Isaac H. Orr, Mr. Leonard D. Haertter.
Absentees: Mr. Alexander Fraser, Mrs. Arthur Stockstrom (vice-president), Mr. Jacob Lashly, Mrs. S. B. McPheeters (secretary).

Our Director

This is Mr. Haertter's third year as Director of John Burroughs School. He has continued to teach classes in mathematics and to serve as adviser to the senior boys. In behalf of the school, we extend to him our most sincere gratitude for the splendid leadership and co-operation he has given us.

CLASSES

In 1923, the opening school year, approximately fifty pupils attended the first classes. These pupils were distributed in the four lower grades; and in June, 1925, came the first commencement exercises for those students in the twelfth grade. In the intervening years great changes have come over the school. Today, instead of fifty students, we have three hundred filling six classes rather than four. This year's graduating class is larger than the entire school in the first year, yet the aims of each class today are the same as those of fifteen years ago: to develop boys and girls in an atmosphere of co-operation and in a democratic spirit.

Memories for Posterity

The recurrent events of our sojourn in J. B. seem to us to be subordinate to the memories of our own characteristic failings, accomplishments, and idiosyncracies.

In the seventh grade we must have been as remarkable as we have been since, but that illuminating period of our career has been so overshadowed by our recent achievements that we hesitate to elaborate upon it. As the ultimate in novices we "knew not, but did not know that we knew not," and were completely floored by the impressive mental mastodons (the students only, mind you) and the complexity of our new community.

As we recall it, the outstanding events of our first year included our self-written and beautifully acted "Jeanne d'Arc" and "Andromeda and Perseus"—with a different hero and heroine in each act; the boys' home economic class; the one and only May Day in which our girls outdid themselves dancing around the Maypole, while Edie and Marion carried the queen's train; Coach Leland's immortal remark as he surveyed a heap of would-be Red Granges, "You'd better get up soon, Christmas is coming and Santa Claus will miss you"; the unsurpassed big brother and sister holiday; and at the end, the girls' violent poster-and-pleading campaign to get Mrs. Walton as an adviser for another year.

As we entered the eighth grade we felt a fiendish delight in being able to assume a condescending air towards SEVENS, and this attitude was fortified by being represented on the council by Bill Culver. In the field of drama, Lord Dunsany's "A Night at an Inn" was exceptionally well done by the self-directed actors, Farrar, Stix, Hamilton and Orr; but, nevertheless, succeeded in thrilling and mystifying our more simple contemporaries. Many of us remember our frequent social functions at which we staged unparalleled mock nuptials. The girls' slam book fad and the boys' yo-yo flimflam were effectively squelched by our teachers when carried as far as the classrooms. And what boy can forget the terrible brawl before a spring Scout meeting when some of our masculine bruisers tangled (with disastrous results) with a ruthless force of ninth graders, headed by one of the Ross boys?

One of the outstanding features of our ninth grade was our critical survey of the state capitol. The morbid delight in determining the longest sentence of a penitentiary inmate (it was 740 years, in case you are interested); the song dedicated to us over the radio in the rathskeller of the cafeteria; the gooey home-made fudge in the bus; and the mammoth dinner at the Big Boy, all bring back pleasant memories of this eventful journey. In the political limelight Farrar was elected to the council, Orr was made president of the class, while Wilfley and Peden were vice-president and secretary respectively. The social studies exhibition, under the supervision of Mr. Melone, was the historical event of this year. And we also have the distinction of being the first and last class to pass down the key of the junior school. The only blemish on that magnificent event was our embarrassment when our president recounted our experiences of the year and somewhat falteringly made the speech of departure.

In our tenth grade year Miss Wood and Mr. Obourn piloted our already unruly class, and were often obliged to walk out on the advisories. By this time the girls had been broken of the habit of walking in groups, much to the delight of the boys, and had now reached the state of maturity in which they played "Farmer in the Dell" and "partner-tag" in the circle after lunch. But they partially redeemed themselves in "Robin Hood" (at least Rose and Toots did in stealing the leads from under the seniors' noses). With Green as president of the class and Farrar and Orr on the council, we were able to imagine that we were beginning already to run the school.

Our junior year saw us more important as citizens, and more capable as students. President Heineman repeatedly called class meetings, at which he fervently implored the class to decide something about the prom. Among the brain children of our more revolutionary members were ideas such as transforming the gym into a southern estate, a beer garden or a vineyard with purple balloons overhead for grapes. The senior-junior roller skating party was undoubtedly the best one in the history of the school. At this gala event whip cracking predominated and provided untold amusement, especially when one of the whips slammed Stupp over the rail.

Justices Horner and Fisher and council members Orr, Farrar, Cornwell and Wilfley were elected and secured the experience which was to prove valuable the next year.

"As You Like It" finished this year up right, probably because the leads, Ann Carter, Jean Fisher, Orr, Heineman, and Johnson, as well as several other members of the cast, were members of our class.

This year the school has witnessed a renaissance, not of classical but of senior classical . . . Our class has undoubtedly come into its own, not only in the field of government, but also in the realm of athletics, and that of the drama.

The football team took the championship as did the soccer team (in spite of Kelly's boomerang kick that scored Prin's only goal). The basketball team, due largely to the seniors, was the runner-up in the district basketball tournament for the first time in the history of the school (the first time Burroughs entered it we won).

Although some insist that the student officers are puppets operated by the faculty, we are convinced that the personnel of the student government is of excellent material, and strictly individualistic. Orr as speaker and Wilfley as secretary of the assembly, Farrar as president, Cornwell as secretary, Will as treasurer, and Johnson and Barr as members of the council; and Leland as chief justice, Bridge as clerk and Heineman and Green as judges on the bench, have established a tradition of dignity and efficiency in student offices. "Trelawny of the Wells" and "Cradle Song" were the dramatic triumphs of this last year and were both big successes.

The tableau of the Christmas pageant, which was designed by Aline Janis and composed of Helen Eiseman and Gardiner Bridge as Mary and Joseph, left the audience completely awestruck. Rose's solo and Dotty and Ross' narrating and the Glee Club's singing also contributed largely to the success of the pageant.

The girls' Palm Beach dance was a social as well as financial success—due not only to their hard work but also to that of the senior and junior boys who could be found working on stepladders or on hands and knees on the floor, both the day before and the one following.

We all agree with Jean Stewart when she says, "I really don't know what the school is going to do without us"; and we also agree with our critic, who just interrupted with, "Your class history is long enough already."

But seriously, as we glance back over the development of our class during our years at Burroughs, we realize that our class spirit has been one of the best things that we've known. We only hope that when we graduate we shall take with us some of this spirit. Before we close, we'd like to express our appreciation to our teachers for their help and co-operation in maintaining the close relationship between the faculty and students here at Burroughs.

Rose K. Adams

Rose not only knows everything that happens among us, but she is usually in on it. Her open-houses, dances, house-parties, and every kind of get-together ever invented, are our chief entertainment. With her many original ideas, her interest in people, and her contagious laugh, she is the best hostess we know. Likewise "K" (who is, by the way, sweet 18) is an outstanding athlete, and her greatest asset is her unusually good singing voice, which may be heard anywhere from the bathtub to her own recitals.

Rose Adams

William A. Barnard

An essential part of Bill's school equipment is his ever-present Leica. It goes to classes, games and parties with him and, ever since its acquisition, half of the miscellaneous pictures in the yearbook have been taken through one of its many lenses. If Bill should ever turn to blackmail (Heaven forbid), he'd have a fortune in no time. Bill plays soccer and was once seen running about the track, probably for a picture of Ladies'-man Fowler in action. Bill has been a rifle club member of long standing.

Wm A. Barnard

Cordelia Anderson

Outstanding in this, Cordelia's first year, was her work on the Senior Girls' Leap Year Dance. Showing an interest unusual for a yearling, she worked and slaved to make the dance a success, which it definitely was. Although she never seems to do any work, her grades are always high, and she is notable for a remarkable facility in doing French, a quality not unused by less brilliant pupils. The most enviable thing about Cordelia, however, is the fact that she leaves school every day at 3:30.

Cordelia Anderson

Charles H. Bland

Characteristic of Charley was his work on the Junior Prom. While the rest of us were still bickering, he went to work on the decorations, and as a result, things were ready long before they had been in other years. His other construction work has been done in the Little Theatre and Christmas Pageant. Charley, one of the finest centers ever found at Burroughs, has earned letters in football and basketball. He is a member of the "World" staff, and Vice-President of the Senior class.

Charles Bland

Sydney Barr

Mary Sydney Barr

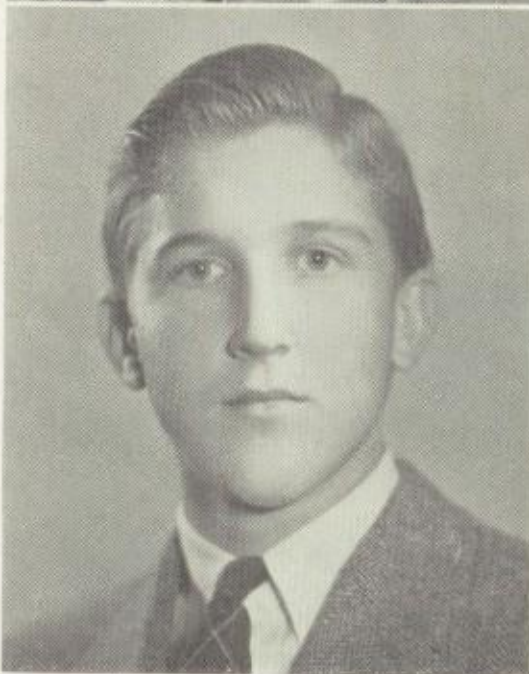

Sydney is about the friendliest person in the world. Frank (even embarrassingly blunt at times), interested in everything, and totally unsophisticated; she, in an unobtrusive way, has led the whole class along those lines. Syd is an excellent athlete, has an unusually sweet voice (both singing and speaking) and (some people are surprised to learn) is far from lacking in gray matter. She might be called our all around best, being the possessor of a wide variety of talents, though not excelling in any except that of making friends.

F. Gardiner F. Bridge

Gardy is the most conscientious swing addict in school, reading Metronome, the orchestra magazine, diligently, and nonchalantly using swing slang, he's "strictly jive." Swing is not Heinie's only musical interest, for he's been a member of three years standing in the Glee Club. His foremost sport is baseball, for he's an excellent pitcher and has earned letters in this sport, as well as in basketball. Gardiner's legislative activities include three class vice-presidencies, and clerk on this year's court. Heinie's certainly "in the groove."

Gardiner Bridge

Joan Blue

Joan Blue

Joan is one of our outstanding class artists and girl athletes. Her greatest achievements were her one man show (art, of course), her captaincy of the girls' basketball team, and her one poem in the Review. Her favorite activity is her dates with Miss Hauptmann, and her pet aversion, German class, "because the boys just torment me so." An ardent committeewoman, Joan's list of committees includes the Prom, father's dinner, Christmas Pageant, and Senior privileges. Her greatest ambition is to paint for pin money, and have more one man shows.

Jack Bronfenbrenner

Jack Bronfenbrenner

Jack has no peer as the class genius, for his list of "A's" would turn a telephone book green with envy. He makes no secret of his abilities, and has been known to propose the idea of selling pieces of his brain to less fortunate people. Studies, however, take little of Jack's time. He is active in dramatics, World, Review, Year Book, and athletics, and received the Harvard award as the outstanding Junior boy. His greatest ambition is to be a research chemist, and indications are that he will be outstanding.

Louise Chubb

Louise, affectionately dubbed Chubbles, is one of our most remarkable class-mates, having completed Mr. Baker's fourth year Latin course with only one known murmur of disapproval. Her real achievement, however, came in her cello playing, by which accomplishment, she was the only one of our girls to make the orchestra. Wheezy also worked on the "World" for several years, and with daring unknown to most of the girls, has made several really good speeches in the midst of some of our more fiery assemblies.

Louise Chubb

John T. Farrar

No frequent Burroughs visitor is at all surprised by those two wildly gesticulating persons in the science lab, for it's only John and Mr. Obourn trading a little snappy repartee on the relative merits of Student Government. John, the logical defender of our mythical rights, is the President of the Student Council, and a member of four years standing. He has also found time to star in dramatics, earn a few athletic letters, and work on the World and Review Board. He makes the proverbial busy bee look like a piker.

John Farrar

Dorothy Cornwell

Truman R. Fowler

Dorothy Cornwell

If you hear a not-very-funny-pun or a slightly funnier giggle anywhere, just expect to see Dotty's blonde head appearing in your midst. It has got into most everything else that has happened in our class: Athletics (she was a member of every class team and varsity), student government (climaxing as secretary of the Student Council), the Glee Club, dramatics, class committees, art, etc. Perhaps she is most at home at a dance, for good-natured "Clownwell" knows more boys than any other Burroughs girl.

Truman R. Fowler

Many a fifth period during the year, Truman has left school in search of advertising, but strangely enough, has always ended with a bag full of doughnuts. When not struggling with a doughnut, he devotes his fifth periods for the Rifle Club or the World, on which he is a feature writer. As a miler he's tops, and his four track letters provide ample proof. Football and soccer account for Truman's other letters. With this record, he has earned himself the job of President of the Athletic Council.

Adele
Croninger

Adele Bullen Croninger

Adele is a person of greatly differing moods. As a Nun or a dumb country wench, her dramatic efforts are equally good. "Hippy" is an elusive personality. We cannot decide whether her violent temper, sense of humor, or admirable sincerity is her most promising characteristic. Adele is a good athlete (famous as our hard-kicking hockey goalie), a past-master at the art of snappy come-backs, and an ardent enthusiast in anything she undertakes—which includes a lot.

William A. Frank

That beautiful, new blue, Lincoln Zephyr coupe which flits to and from school every day, to the great envy of every driver in school, belongs to Bill, the Zephyr king. Bill's favorite sport (besides buying Zephyrs) is soccer, which sport he plays avidly from summer to spring. The field looks unusual without Bill. Indoors, he's a demon in his activities of photography, Glee Club and World. However, the thing that keeps him busiest is his job as manager of the tennis team.

Bill
Frank

Edna
Edison

Edna Edison

Miniature stage sets, tickets to the theater, original three act plays, summers at dramatic schools, important parts in Burroughs plays: For all these do we know "Toots," who, ambitious to become an actress, is the most persevering and aspiring girl we know. In other fields, too, her talents are displayed. She writes remarkable poetry, edits the "Review," draws modern (if queer) looking pictures, and is a true exponent of the value of art-appreciation. Her greatest fame so far, however, is as our champion fender annihilator.

Jack
Green

John L. Green

If anyone should happen upon a dark-haired boy making slightly screwy faces in the halls some day, it's only Jack. His faces and his witticisms have done much to lighten our school days. He has won for himself a place in dramatics, and carrying on the Green tradition, is a member of the Review Board, and editor of this Year Book. In the administrative field, Jack's claims to fame lie in his class Presidency, and his seat in the Student Court. He has also had the necessary leisure to make himself essential in athletics, and one of the best liked members of the class.

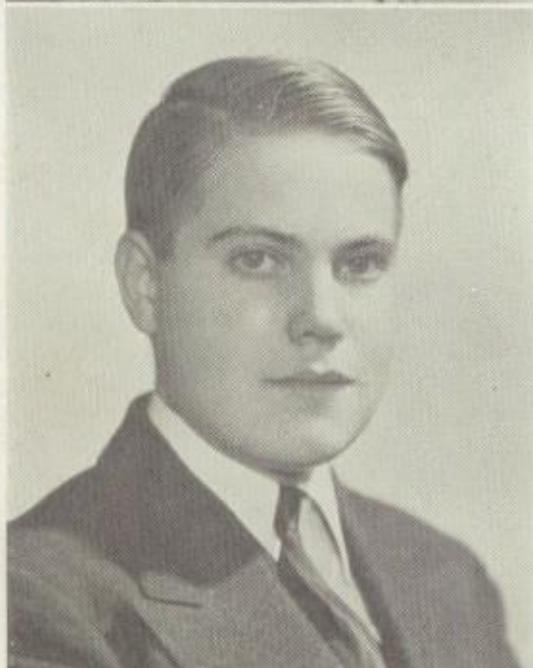

Eiseman

Helen Louise Eiseman

Helen was the most beautiful "Mary" we have ever seen in the Christmas Pageant. Indeed her large dark eyes and "schoolgirl complexion" have made more than one girl just a bit jealous. Helen has a variety of abilities. She paints or sings well if in an artistic mood, is very athletic when the great out-of-doors is more appealing, and in her deeper moments has reached such heights as class President. Always serious and sincere, Helen added a needed dignity to our class.

Ray Hahn

Raymond E. Hahn

Ray is renowned not only as our youngest member, but as our greatest musician, a prodigy of the piano. He plays not only the classics, but original compositions which give great promise. Ray's all-consuming interest is science, and his diligence has made him the President of the Junior Academy. When not busy at this job, Ray may be found in the Glee Club, dramatics, photography or the Year Book. The results of his drudgeries are shown in his grades which are consistently excellent.

Helen Euwer

If you see tall, well mannered Helen (the knitting champ) failing to answer to any name besides "Mother Superior," don't be surprised. She will just be thinking of her well-received part in "Cradle Song" this spring. Like her voice, which, though always sweet, has developed tremendously in the past year, Helen herself has changed. Always an excellent student, Helen extended her talents during these last two years at Burroughs to include an active participation in a large variety of class, school, and outside activities.

Helen Euwer

Ross Hamilton

Ross is death to pencils, knitting needles, and anything that will give a resounding "crack" when struck by these weapons, for he has an ingrown rhythm that may be exhibited anywhere from study hall to Algebra. Even Doc. Roskopf is rumoured to have swayed to Ross' pencil on desk rhythm for five minutes before realizing that math was being neglected. Because of these abilities, Ross is a valued member of the orchestra. He has worked diligently in athletics as well, and received a hard earned football letter, and innumerable certificates.

Jean Fisher

Jean Fisher

Jean first impressed us with her more dignified abilities, and we elected her to the Student Court just a year after she joined us. Then her athletic skill proved outstanding; not much later she turned out to be a remarkably good actress; then an extremely excellent money-changer; a singer; and even a seamstress. Now we know that, in spite of all these, "Fish's" real loves are olive and cheese sandwiches and chocolate chip ice cream cones, movie magazines, picnics at her farm, and duels caused by her "panther eyes."

Courtney Heineman

Courtney E. Heineman

In Courtney, Mr. Obourn and Mr. Neville met their match. His wit, wisdom, and satire have earned him a place, challenged by none, and his frequent searches for Miss Ewing are evidence of his eminent position as President of the stage-crew and actor par excellent. He has been Class President, member of the Court, and Year Book staff, in addition to collecting an amazing number of athletic certificates. Courtney's three year office as first and foremost tenor of the Glee Club has proved a necessary evil for Mr. Weinrich.

Agnes Galt

Agnes Galt

Agnes just came in time to spend our senior year with us, but she managed to obtain a charter membership in the H. P. E. (hate physical education) Club, bowling us over with her remarkable proficiency in languages as well. The latter she acquired, no doubt, along with a limitless supply of conversational subject matter, in her schooling abroad last year. Her greatest hope is to finish school in St. Louis and then go on with her travels, for dignified Agnes is a gypsy at heart.

David Horner

David Horner

Any blue Monday finds Dave more haggard, more drowsy than anybody else. But not from carousing—heavens, no! He's just had his weekly tussle with the World, and its staggering effects are still noticeable. On peppier days he concentrates on the Review, the Junior Science Academy, basketball or tennis, but his first love is his rather jazzy Ford convertible. As a former member of the Student Court, Horn is very judicial in his dating, and all the girls are quite on edge until the selection for his weekly date is made.

Suzanne Goodbar

"Sweet Sue" is one of those whose quietness covers a great deal of ability. Her poetry, which seems just naturally to come to her, can truly be called beautiful. And, oh, what we wouldn't give to change places with Sue during exams. For, as well as being pretty brilliant to start with, Suzanne not only knows how but is willing to work. She and her famous titian tresses have appeared on the Burroughs stage several times, and they also have been seen flying down the athletic field.

Sue Goodbar

Bethune Johnson

Bethune, the Senator from Washington, holds the distinction of being the number one class politician. In this capacity, he lets no motion be either accepted or defeated without the benefit of some Johnsonian comment, and rumour has it that he has flat feet from his filibusters on the assembly floor. But Bethune does not confine his genius to the legislature; he is a Council member, actor, member of the World and the Review Board, and a hard working athlete. Bethune will soon have boss Tom out on a limb.

Bob Johnson

Dorothy A. Hager

That tall, willowy blonde, wandering about our corridors, with a dreamy, disinterested look in her eye is none other than Dorothy. We all remember the metamorphosis of Dot, when two years ago, that little girl emerged into one of our most striking-looking young ladies. Next, she learned to sew, and since has paraded many stunning gowns (some, it is said, made by her own lily-white hands) before us. This spring she surprised and pleased everyone with her ability as an actress.

Dorothy Hager

Oather A. Kelly, Jr.

Oather is one of the Class' wholesome boys. He is a rosy-cheeked lad who likes sports, milk shakes with nutmeg, good, clean fun, and an occasional date with the dentist. He has been a regular football player for two years, and was this year placed on the All District football team, the first Burroughs student to receive that honor. His further ventures in sport have gained him baseball and soccer letters as well as a knee operation, which no one in school will ever forget.

Oather Kelly Jr.

Aline Janis

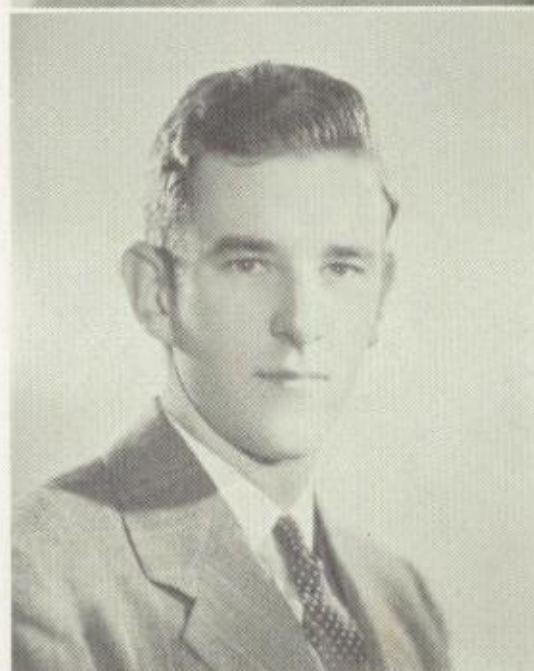

Aline is probably the most talented person in our class. Long before she reached Burroughs she was drawing phenomenally perfect pictures of Indians, and every year she has gone further and further, till now she must be pretty near tops. Aline is also known for the stories and poems she writes, for the Christmas tableau she designed, and her Valentine's Day birthday parties. One of the most famous days in our whole history was the time Aline finally cut off her long black curls.

Robert D. Leland

Robert D. Leland

Bob, in spite of a setback caused by a bad infection, is one of the more prominent members of the class. His letters in football, soccer, and track, and an exceptional school spirit have made him a rousing leader in many a rally. His activities cover almost every field open to him. A band member since seventh grade, member of the photography club, and Science Academy, Chief Justice of the Court, and a member of the Christmas Pageant Committee, Ozzie has had a full time in school and out.

Margaret Latzer

Margaret Latzer

Margaret has no equal as the outstanding gullible member of the class, the most shining example being her ride to Jefferson City, in reality Denny Road. In one of her less gullible moods, she took the lead in the senior production "Cradle Song," a part which she did with gusto. As any girl will tell you, her great forte is athletics, for she has made an enormous number of varsity and class teams. No inter-class track-meet is complete without at least two firsts for Margaret.

Robert M. Livingston

Robert M. Livingston

Livy has never gone so far as to have John Burroughs School painted on the side of his station wagon, but it would certainly be appropriate. Any time there's hauling to be done, Bob and his car are called to the rescue, for he is our unofficial trucker. Although indications would be otherwise, Bob does get out of his car occasionally and at times even runs. He has letters in track, football, and soccer. Bob may always be seen in shop, and is one of our three stage putter-uppers.

Harriet Manchester

If you should find a petite blond extolling the merits of Fargo, N. Dakota, it's Harriet. Harriet joined us last year, and she and her open houses have been indispensable ever since. She has been a prominent singer, working hard in the Glee Club, and, on occasion, very capably singing solo. Her one vice, if such it may be called, is her pride in the Union Biscuit Co., and to be strictly on the safe side, never mention N. B. C. while Harriet's in the offing.

Harriet Manchester

Virgil Loeb, Jr.

That occasional hunted look of Miss Ewing's is a sure sign that she has just had a "tête à tête" with our capable but maddening electrician, Virgil. Bud lights our plays and acts in them, usually as an amusing jester. His electrical endeavors have made him a Science Academy member, and his writing, a member of the "Review," Year Book, and News Editor of the "World." As electrician for the Prom his well nigh impossible trick was lighting the gym without blowing any fuses or overloading any wires—too much!

Virgil Loeb Jr.

Marion Augusta Mendle

Marion is a real, honest-to-goodness, died-in-the-wool optimist; always a smile, good humor, and thanks to everyone (including a policeman after he gave her a ticket for speeding), Marion has worked hard and successfully, without so much as hinting at thanks for herself, in everything in school: classes, getting advertising, class committees, etc. She is also one of the domestically inclined and may often be found cooking or sewing with the same care-free good nature that distinguishes her everywhere.

Marion Mendle

Ben L. Loeb

Ben is our most expert sport manager, for he's had plenty of experience. Besides managing basketball, soccer, track, and baseball teams, he's earned a football letter on his own merits. Dramatically, Ben is tops. His performance as Gower in "Trelawny of the Wells," was an excellent job of character acting. He is one of Miss Ewing's foremost cohorts, and may always be found near her. Ben's greatest pleasure comes from his English classes with Mark (Anthony) Neville. No class is complete without a little snappy repartee between Ben and Mr. Neville.

Ben Loeb

Doris Naylor

Doris Dee Naylor

Doris and her giggle have been in our class for just one year. But home-loving Dee Dee, with her ability to say funny things in the middle of everything but Latin, soon established herself in our literary circles. Aspiring to be a journalist, she has worked on our "Review" and Year Book. A quickly acquired loyalty along with her good-natured disposition made her invaluable in our many class activities. Her only disappointment is that we still have no escalator service to the third floor.

Hugh McCulloch, Jr.

When walking through our hallowed halls, it is impossible to miss Hugh, for his flaming red thatch is a positive identification at any distance. His stop signal is a familiar sight in soccer and track, and many other activities to boot. He has had several leads in dramatics, notably in "Trelawney of the Wells" and "Cradle Song." Hugh appears occasionally at the Glee Club; and his miscellaneous home museum is a legend. He is one of our many doctors to be; indications are that he'll be a capable one.

Hugh McCulloch

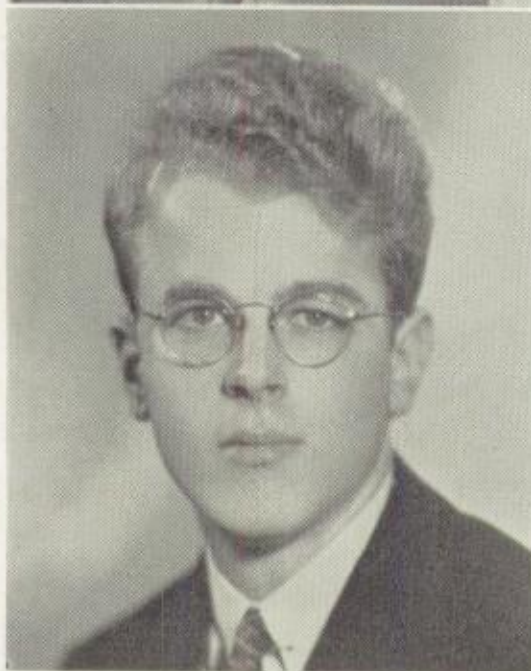

Beverlee Place

Beverlee Ann Place

In the midst of all the rough and tumble of "modern youth," Beverlee is one who is unreservedly sweet. Endowed with the rare quality of neatness, she (they say) can wear a linen dress all day without getting a wrinkle in it. And whether working in the art room or playing a hockey game (Beverlee has been on practically all of our teams), she displays the same quiet poise. The thought of Beverlee's losing her temper has been known to make people pass right on out.

Sterling McCarthy

J. Sterling McCarthy

Sterling is perhaps the class' most interested mechanic. Almost any period finds Sterling shuffling his way to the shop to work on his electric motor, or our new scoreboard. Sterling is one of the shop's most frequent visitors. He is unobtrusive, but gets consistently good grades in spite of consistently late work. He's one of the few people we know who can give a good account of himself in class without previous preparation; and the most remarkable thing is that he can get away with it.

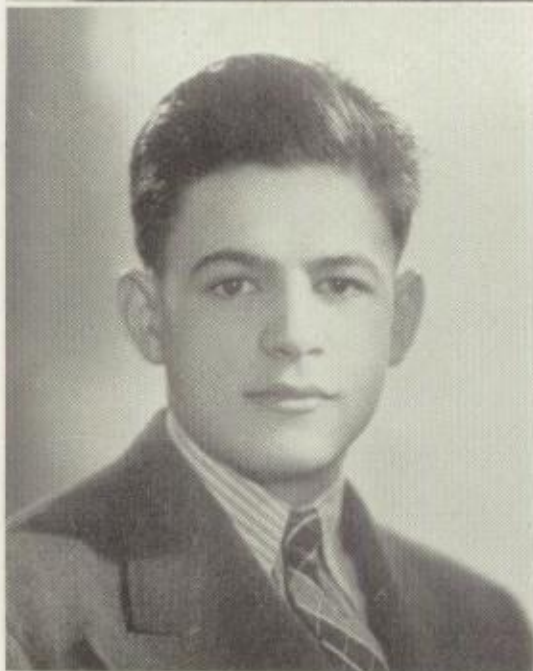

Alice Richard

Alice hailed from New York at the beginning of our Junior year, with all the cosmopolitan sophistication and Eastern accent which her home town warranted. Though "Ally" is tall and enviably thin, she has two of the largest eyes (of the rolling variety) that exist. Alice has the ability to retain her always remarkable poise in any situation: as chairman of the Fathers and Daughters Dinner, when painting her moody and melancholy but very effective pictures, and even when calmly breaking a few (dozen) rules.

Alice Richard

Boyd C. Merrell

Although a comparatively new member of the class, Boyd's record shows that he has entered into things with a bang. He is a member of the "Review," "World," and Year Book staffs, distinguishing himself as a discerning sports writer. As an athlete, he has earned a letter, and has been outstanding on numerous "B" teams. Boyd was so conscientious as chairman of the Prom's stag line committee, that he spent the whole evening tending to these duties. Boyd is now President of the Senior Class.

Boyd Merrell

Katherine Salkey

Despite Kay's preference for the California climate, she has managed to bestow a good deal of her artistic talent here, painting one of the largest murals we've ever seen, as well as drawing through all her classes. Some people are surprised to learn that she also does very well in these classes. In addition, her voice has been an asset to the Glee Club, even when she sings after dancing all night. Kay's greatest fame came from her discussions with Mr. Merrifield and her ability to gyp gym.

Bruce Merrifield

Although Bruce joined us for the first time this year, he has done unusually well. First, he has a bass voice like his brother Charlie's, and has become an integral part of the Glee Club. However, he hasn't neglected athletics for he earned his letter in both football and basketball, and shows great promise as a tennis player. His most amazing feat, however, was his curriculum during the first semester, five major subjects, all of which he passed with flying colors. Bruce has definitely been a fine addition to our class.

Bruce Merrifield

Ann Carter See

Ann Carter, witty author of Merely Idle Chatter, is one of our foremost literateurs. Many of her consistently late English papers have reached the Review, in spite of the fact that she frequently uses English class as a study hall. Ann Carter is a vigorous actress, as evidenced by her leads in "Trelawny" and "As You Like It," and worked diligently on the Decorations Committee for the Christmas Pageant. Besides her column, Ann Carter works on the "Review" and Year Book, filling in extra time with art and athletics.

William C. Orr

Bill's excellent scholastic and extra curricular record have made him one of our most distinguished members. His career started in ninth grade, at which time he was elected a Council member, and President of the class. Bill graduated naturally from the Council to his position of Speaker of the Assembly, and has proved himself an outstanding one. These duties, coupled with leads in dramatics, "Review," and his job as assistant editor of the "World," have not deterred Bill from gaining letters in soccer and tennis.

Susie Simpson

Susie was one of our most outstanding athletes until her appendicitis operation this spring gave her more spare time in which to dream about the merits of southern gentlemen. One thing which she always keeps is her good sense of humor, which is apparent even when she is dashing (?) about in her pre-war "Chevy," drowning out the knocks with her unique off-key version of "Trees." But Susie has her serious side, and, if she ever passes biology, has high ambitions in the medical world.

Burnet Outten, Jr.

Burnet, our tallest member, in his capacity of Chief of Mr. Obourn's Visiting Firemen, has provided a good subject for his banter for the last two years. He has long been a member of the Review Board, but his first love is motors, and in his capacity as class mechanic has done much to and for our various members' automobiles. In between times, Ott has done well as advertising manager of the World, obtaining more advertising than this impoverished paper has had since its creation.

Elizabeth J. Smiley

"E" singing about the "Bourgeoisie Oiseau" (whatever that is), "E" starting a Big Apple with her pet "rec," "E" eating Medarts' hamburgers, teaching her dog tricks, hostessing a house-party, wearing her green flowered shirt, being terribly happy, or tearfully declaring the world to be no good—all will long be remembered as an integral part of our class. For whether on the athletic field (where she always makes a good showing), in Glee Club, art, or anything else, she is the peppiest girl that ever hit John Burroughs.

E. Smiley -

Burnet W. Peden

Burnet is our representative of the strong, silent school of men. He is silent in athletics, silent in the halls, and silent in classes. His ability to keep cool and poised has made Babe an excellent rifle shot and President of the Rifle Club. He is notable on the athletic field for his great ability, spunk, and stamina, as well as for his phenomenal dead pan, a mask which neither changes in winning or losing. His career on the field has earned him letters in football, basketball, baseball, and track.

Babe Peden

Jean Stewart

One of the most popular girls in the class, Jeannie, plus dimples and long curly eyelashes, is just plain cute. When not reduced to tears over the death of her favorite biology pet (we'll never forget the funeral services Mr. Merrifield held for her spider), a friend's disappointment, or a "Betty Boop" movie, Jean is always enjoyably, if rather haphazardly, engaged in some activity. Jeannie is equally adept at all games from hockey to bridge, and includes among her accomplishments, singing, sculpturing, being loyal, and dancing divinely.

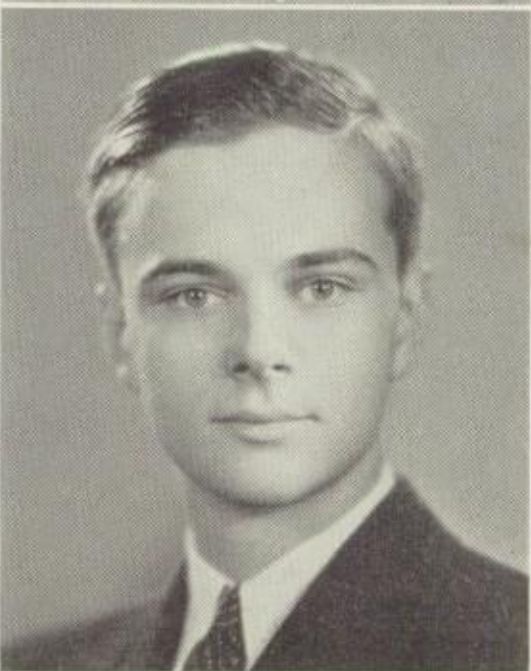

Jean Stewart

Elzey M. Roberts, Jr.

Elzey is our foremost slide rule disciple. He is lost without his enormous "slipstick," which, in Elzey's expert hands, will perform almost as well as a calculating machine. His greatest hobby, however, is electricity, and he has done electrical work on the Little Theatre, Prom, and Christmas Pageant, and is a member of the Science Academy on the strength of his electrical ventures. Elzey derives great pleasure from our assemblies; first, because he is time keeper, second, because they are governed by Robert's rules of order.

E.M. Roberts, W90ZM

Peggy Stewart

Margaret R. Stewart

Though modest and even a little bashful about her abilities, Peg is just about the best worker in the class; and ever since her reliability was discovered she has done about ninety per cent of the work in class activities—on Prom, dance, commencement, and every other committee. She has also taken part in dramatics (her portrayal of a cranky old lady was grand), art, and sewing. We are sure that, if only the fashion experts knew her, Peggy would lead the list of the "ten best dressed women."

Norman Probst

Norman K. Probst

The odds are 100 to 1 that any giggle emanating from our fair halls was conceived and executed by our amused classmate, Norman, for he always has one or two on tap. Norm's fame lies also in his ability as a saxophone player, his vest-pocket size, and his love for the Fox Theatre, which he manages—with a little help from his uncle. Athletics, dramatics, and the World consume the rest of his time, but the giggle is always with him. When Norm stops laughing, he'll be dead.

Margaret Stockstrom

Margaret Stockstrom

Peg is the only girl we know who can come in out of the rain with her hair still set. Peg used to scare us a bit when we were younger, and even now she sometimes seems awe-inspiring, especially to opposing teams, for she is one of our best athletes. Good-looking Peggy has also acquired of late a surprising amount of old-fashioned pensive charm and domesticity, which she shows not only in Home Economics, but also in classes and in her numerous social activities.

Grandison D. Royston

Buster is our only member who is definitely a country boy at heart. His ambition is not to make a lot of money, but to run successfully a 2000-acre farm. His Scout work deserves mention, for, as an Eagle Scout he has earned more merit badges than anyone in school, and is now Senior Patrol Leader of the Troop. His interest and hard work have procured him track, football, and soccer letters. If he works as hard on his farm as he has at school, he'll achieve his goal.

*Grandison D. Royston Jr.

Edith May Vorhaus

A very smooth looking "Page-boy" bob, a smile, not a small number of twinkles-in her eye, and a brilliant mind which also includes a good sense of humor: that is Edie, our class peace-maker. She has been prominent in many activities, dramatics, glee club, and athletics, and has held a number of class offices. But her greatest fame comes from her phenomenally kind heart and her smile which truly deserves mentioning twice. The truth is we can't think of a single bad thing to say about Edie.

Edie Vorhaus

Le Roy Sante, Jr.

Roy, the class virtuoso of piano swing, packs a lot of weight, but it's in the right places, for he is the possessor of numerous letters in football, basketball, and baseball. But he also shines in the esthetic fields as a swingy pianist, composer, glee club standby, and extremely artistic photographer. He has in store a large number of parlor tricks, and hardly a day passes without a card or match trick from Le Roy, who can even light a safety match with one hand.

Roy Sante

Rosamond G. Wilfley

Rosamond has no equal as the most calm, collected and poised girl in the Senior class, if not the whole school. Her readings of the minutes as Secretary of the Assembly are notable for their absence of slips and her aforementioned poise. She has, of course, been a member of numberless class committees, and a Glee Club member of long standing. With these activities, work in dramatics (particularly "Trelawney of the Wells") and outstanding academic work, Rosebud has little time on her hands.

Rosamond Wilfley

Philip L. Sincoff

Without the shadow of a doubt, Phil works harder in athletics than anybody else in school. "Sinky" thinks and talks of nothing but the sport in season, and no amount of extra practice can deter him in his struggles to make his certificate. Sinky's favorite sport (the one in which he earned his letter) is tennis, and his ambition for later life is to make the Davis Cup team. Phil's other extra curricular activities are Glee Club and Rifle Club. His pet aversion is desk drawers.

Phil Sincoff

Janet J. Williamson

Janet has been increasing the surplus of class brains for the last five years. Especially has she shone whenever she gets a chance to talk politics, for Janet is the most solid Republican we know, and woe to the poor Democrat who gets in her way. Janet is known as the most patient play-prompter in school, the hardest fighting girl athlete, the only member of the Review Board who knows what it's all about, and the receiver of more long-distance telephone calls than any other Burroughsite.

Richard A. Sisler

Dick is a playboy and athlete. He plays in classes and athletics, but has, nevertheless, a reputation as one of the best of Burroughs' athletes for all time. He has been a four letter man for two years, with letters in baseball, football, basketball, and track. He was placed as all-city Class "B" basketball center, gained honorable mention on the all-city football team, and was a member of five championship aggregations at Burroughs. In addition to athletics, Rich works on the stage crew, and goes to classes.

Rich Sisler

John M. Stix

John M. Stix

John, Mr. Neville's right hand man, is a trumpet player and photographer par excellent. Between toots on his trumpet and clicks with his camera, he plays tennis and soccer, and emotes in convincing character parts. His literary achievements include work on the World, the Review Board, and his job of assistant editor of this Year Book, to say nothing of his book which at present is in its formative stages. John's greatest achievement of all, however, was his performance of Schubert's arrangement of Mr. Horner's sonata.

Jack Phelps Stupp

Jack Phelps Stupp

Jack has never lost his childhood admiration for officers and firemen. Ladue fires are incomplete without this visiting fireman, and his joy-riding is done in squad cars. His memberships in the rifle club and "Review" are trivial compared to his thankless task as business manager of the Year Book. In this chore of two years standing, Jack alternately coerces, begs, threatens and despairs in his advertising drive, doing withal, a thoroughly excellent job. In season, his favorite sport of duck hunting provides Mr. Obourn with both duck and goat.

Robert I. Will

Bob, Gov.'s right-hand man, is Burroughs' unofficial good-will representative to the rest of the world, for there's hardly a person between the river and Denny Road, who doesn't know the "Doc." He is small, but potent, and earned himself a letter on this year's championship "A" football team. When he's not handshaking or backslapping, he concerns himself with photography and the year book, of which he is Photography editor. "The Doc" is also a sterling member of the Student Council and Treasurer of that august body.

Rose Adams, Secretary

As in the past, this year's Senior Class took part in all phases of student life, and aptly assumed the responsibility of being the leaders of the school. In the field of student government, the Senior Class had, in addition to the Speaker and Secretary of the Assembly, four of the five members of the Court and five of the seven members of the Council. It actively participated in athletics, having nine lettermen on the championship football team, five basketball letter winners, eight soccer champions, and numerous men in track, baseball and tennis. The twelfth grade presented two full length dramatic club productions, participated in the Glee club, on the staffs of the publications, in the Rifle club and other activities, organized a Science club, and a "swing sextet" as an outgrowth of the orchestra.

Junior Class

Fifth row: O. Mutrux, W. Wackman, P. Adams, H. Neidringhaus, W. Reed, H. Outten, B. Reismeyer.
Fourth row: J. Williamson, J. Leschen, L. M. Leland, M. K. Thompson, H. Depew, M. Galt, P. Treuman, R. Kerwin, P. Gale.
Third row: M. Coggeshall, P. Jones, N. Schleicher, J. Van Winkle, E. Aloe, L. Spitzer, H. Hawkins, R. Lively.
Second row: D. Friday, T. Buder, P. White, G. Dee, C. Steiner, R. Martin, H. Young, P. Bebie, B. Barr, K. Rice.
Front row: V. Christy, M. Lacomble, F. Lacomble, J. Lawry, G. Hecker, J. Lord, F. Jones, S. Fraser, D. Gartside.

George Hecker, President
John Simmons, Vice-President
Carol Steiner, Secretary

The Junior Class proved, in every phase of student life, that it is ready to take over the leadership of the school next year. As in previous years, the outstanding accomplishment of the eleventh grade was the presentation of the Junior Prom, which was a success in every respect. In student government, the class had one member on the Court and one as the acting bailiff. Then, there were four Junior lettermen on the championship football team, one on the championship soccer team, three on the basketball squad, and several baseball and trackmen. The members of the class also participated in all of the other extra-curricular activities of the school.

Sophomore Class

Back row: R. Hagnauer, R. Neuhoft, A. Klippel, T. Wipperman, G. Kevil, H. Monnig, O. Pilkington, R. Baker, W. Herbert, A. McCourt, E. Shiffrin.
Fourth row: R. Anderson, R. Guidi, A. Schleicher, N. Livingston, T. Gettys, H. Watson, D. Alvater, W. Jenkins, J. Lively, D. Holekamp, D. Martin, A. Adams.
Third row: A. Van Dyke, J. Felker, J. Hilmer, T. Allen, D. Eiseman.
Second row: K. Woodward, A. Frank, M. Inman, B. Stupp, L. Steiner, P. Gamble, P. McPheeters, N. Braxton, B. Stockstrom, S. Rickey, M. F. Cutts, J. Fischel, M. Bartlett.
First row: V. Cornwell, P. Powe, N. Kline, D. Hughes, V. Boisseau, M. Obourn, A. Porter, M. A. McCarthy, B. Leschen, M. Gravely, J. Simon, E. Weiner.
Absentee: E. Stevens.

Malcolm Obourn, President
Edwin Shiffrin, Vice-President
Patricia Gamble, Secretary

As the youngest class of the Senior School, the Tenth Grade showed itself to be made up of active citizens who added much by their participation in student activities. The class distinguished itself in the field of dramatics by an excellent performance of "The Late Christopher Bean." They showed a keen interest in assembly proceedings, and contributed much to the benefit of Student Government. In sports, they placed two soccer men, two trackmen, and a baseball man in the ranks of the "B" club. This class shows promise of being outstanding in the next two years.

Freshman Class

Back row: M. J. Gray, R. Howe, M. Calhoun, C. Renard, P. Fowler, C. Messenger, R. Smith, W. Chubb, W. Outten.
Fourth row: S. Will, J. Ford, J. Smyth, I. Stern, C. Lacomble, C. Pollack, J. Ney, W. Boyle, J. Sherry.
Third row: L. Oliver, M. Campen, V. Henry, R. Samuels, R. L. Anderson, B. Harlow, K. Marriot, J. Kircher.
Second row: D. Brown, S. Pickrell, M. Dodson, M. Wallace, T. Stix, H. Melone, I. Sandperl, C. Bischoff.
Front row: B. Carr, N. Scott, E. Peltason, J. Baker, M. Reed, A. Vorhaus, J. Beisman, B. Ratz, E. Samuels.

Jane Smyth, President

Ann Miller, Vice-President

Margery Dodson, Secretary

These freshmen proved themselves capable leaders of the Junior School, and were distinguished by placing two members of their class on the Student Council. Many of the class showed a sincere desire for participation in activities by doing much of the reporting for the student publications. The performance of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" was worthy of high praise, and the class showed definite promise in the field of dramatics. In sports, the Ninth Grade placed a letterman on the football, soccer, and baseball teams.

Eighth Grade

Back row: T. Probst, L. King, A. Postlethwaite, B. Williamson, M. Bartlett, I. B. Isserman, M. Simmons, P. Moore, A. Berger, P. Braxton, R. Stockton, L. Vollmar.
Fourth row: J. Utiger, F. Galt, A. Hardy, L. Nulsen, B. Crossen, P. Verlie, G. Monnig, K. Baker, F. MacNutt, K. Love, D. Scott.
Third row: B. Rickey, M. McDonald, J. Costen, J. McCulloch, J. Brown, R. Winkelmeyer, G. Hibbard, S. Butler, T. Lasker.
Second row: H. Ayres, M. Blue, D. Lively, A. Roland, J. Yahlem, F. Hagee, G. Andrews, S. Heuer, D. Charles.
Front row: B. Watkins, B. Frost, J. Alvater, A. Blanke, B. Phelan, A. Harris, E. Ney, M. Lammert, L. Carr.
Absentee: W. K. Bixby.

George Hibbard, President
W. K. Bixby, Vice-President
Francis MacNutt, Secretary

The Eighth Grade took a surprisingly great interest in extra-curricular activities about the school by participating in the Christmas Pageant, in dramatics, shopwork, sports, and newspaper reporting. From its ranks, came most of the membership of the newly organized Junior Chorus of singers. Many members of the class took part in the school band. In sports, some members of the group played on the "C" football team. The Eighth Grade play, "Sightseeing Deluxe," was a big success and quite a bit of dramatic talent is forthcoming.

Seventh Grade

SEVENTH GRADE CLASS

Back row: H. Kerwin, A. Stockstrom, E. Sante, P. Beisman, F. Schleicher, F. Eiseman, J. Hessing, J. Miller.

Fourth row: M. B. Lammert, E. Eiseman, A. Elder, P. Roberts, D. Calhoun, B. Obear.

Third row: E. Freund, D. Sachs, J. Porter, L. Stockstrom, N. Knight, J. Taylor, K. Corneli.

Second row: E. Wise, E. L. Ullman, S. Fischel, P. Jacquith, S. A. Tarrant, J. Jones, L. White.

Front row: M. D. Noble, M. Fuller, A. Bronfenbrenner, H. Hollingsworth, J. Martin, D. Longmire, L. Post.

Absentee: B. Smyth.

John Martin, President
Larry Post, Vice-President
William Obear, Secretary

The new Seventh Grade quickly became an important part of the school. Though somewhat lost at first in their new surroundings, under the guidance of the Seniors, they soon found themselves taking an active interest in various activities. They organized clubs within their own class, made a number of academic trips, and cemented friendships by class parties.

The Seventh Graders willingly entered into Physical Education, and many future varsity stars began their development. Surprisingly enough, two members of this class were candidates for student offices, and many assembly speeches were made by these most diminutive members of the student assembly.

Art Department

The Art Department is conducted much in the fashion of a studio, where the students feel free to work at any time in any medium of artistic expression. The pupils create in either painting or sculpture. In the painting section, work is done in oil, water colors, pastel or charcoal, and a number of large projects have been completed in paints during the past year. Under the direction of Mrs. Edsall, boys and girls of both the senior and junior schools may express their ideas in painting. Instruction is given in the clay room, where statues of all types are designed during the course of the year. After the clay modeling, a number of the students have their work cast in plaster or cement. A new course in art, including instruction in color and design, was introduced this year, thus broadening the field of artistic expression. In the course of the year, the Burroughs art pupils have great opportunity to produce a variety of subjects.

Home Economics Department

The Home Economics Department is one of the most interesting and valuable divisions of class activity in the school. Here the girls receive practical experience in cooking, sewing, and home-making.

The food laboratory not only affords the girls an opportunity actually to prepare the food, but also teaches her how to purchase it. The knowledge of how to plan and serve balanced meals is taught, and the vitamin and calorie content of the various foods is emphasized greatly.

In the sewing department the pupils make garments of all sorts and learn, in addition, the fundamental principles of design, color, and the properties of textiles. The outstanding activity of the sewing department is the presentation of a fashion show each spring at the Mother and Daughters' day luncheon. The Home Economics Department includes the entire field of personal living, and gives practical and valuable training in every phase.

Industrial Arts

Work in the shop, under the direction of Mr. Schmitt, has progressed rapidly this year. With the addition of the new metal lathe and other minor improvements in the equipment, the potentialities of the shop have been greatly enlarged. The junior school boys have been largely engaged in the construction of model sailboats. The older boys, besides working in wood, have fashioned a number of excellent articles in pewter, lead, and leather. A great number have also participated in the classes in mechanical and architectural drawing. In these classes, the pupils have learned the fundamentals of house-planning and drafting symbols and are now engaged in drawing more complex projects. Probably the most notable accomplishments of the year, in addition to those named above, have been the construction of an automobile trailer and a steam engine, each made by a senior boy. The Industrial Arts Department has also co-operated with the Dramatic Club, by building the sets and scenery for the various plays given throughout the year.

Rifle Club

The Rifle Club is a comparatively new activity. It was organized in the spring of 1933, and, until the fall of 1935, the gym was used as the place for shooting. In the fall of 1935, however, a fine range was constructed down in the basement of the main building by the members of the club under the direction of Dr. Sibley. The range was improved greatly this year by the firemen of the City of Ladue, because the police wanted to use the range for practice with large caliber pistols.

The Rifle Club is a member of the Greater St. Louis Rifle League, and as such, has regularly scheduled matches with other members of the League. This year, however, the club was unable to schedule many matches because of the great percentage of members who were always taken away by other activities. Because most of the members of the team were inexperienced, the club didn't make a very good showing in the matches.

However, if the Club was not very successful from the point of view of participation in the League this year, this was made up for by the great number of individuals who advanced far in rank. The range was crowded at the fifth hour period every day, and the members of the Club, besides having great sport, were building up a fine team for next year.

The officers of the Club this year: President, Burnet Peden; Vice-President, John Simmons; and Secretary-Treasurer, Bill Reed.

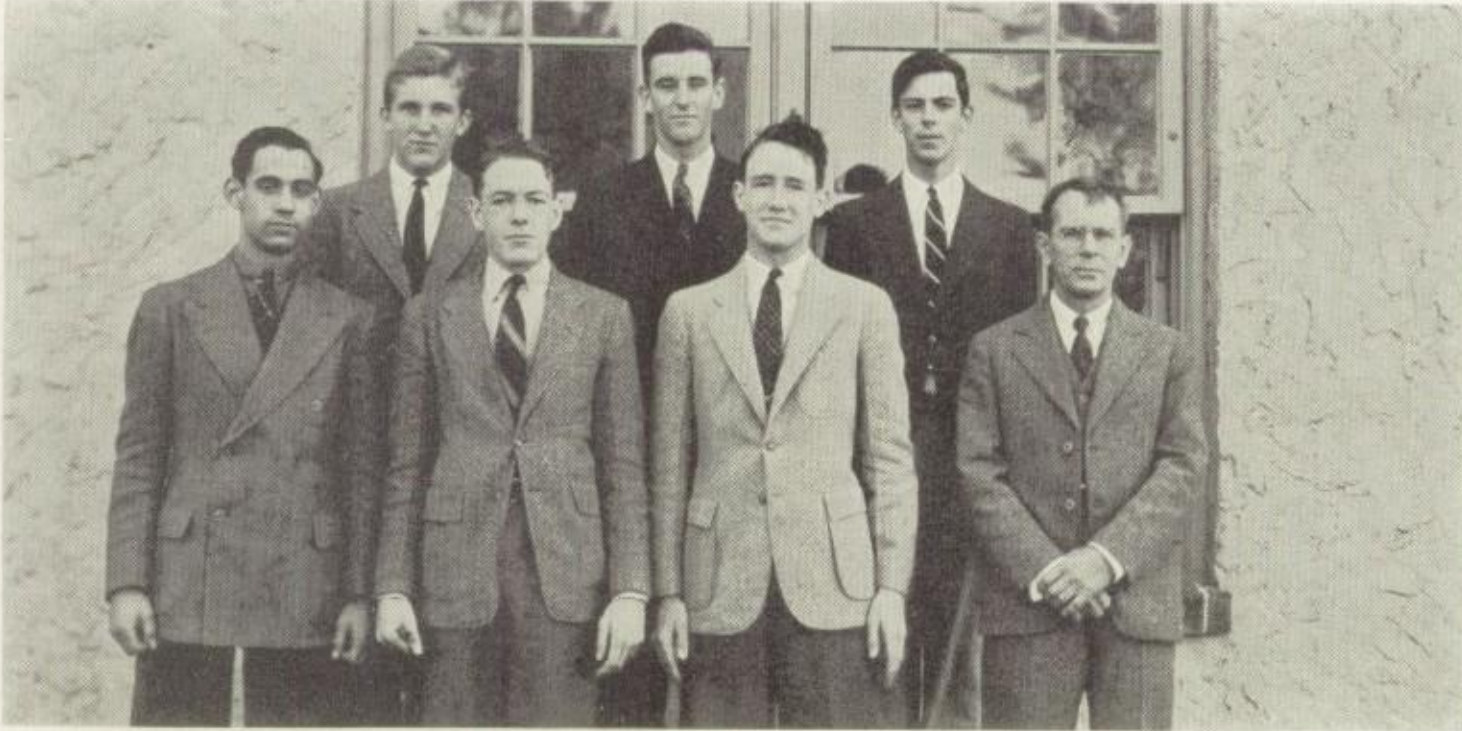

ACTIVITIES

Each student in the senior school may elect one or more extra-curricular activities in which he participates throughout the year. One period is set aside each day for the exclusive use of the activities. Each activity, under the direction of a member of the faculty, is organized so as to give continued work for the year in one special field. New organizations are continually being formed, so that a wide and varied choice in this phase of school life is always possible. Among the elective activities are the World, the Year-Book, the Review, Photography Club, Glee Club, Dramatic Club, Rifle Club, and Arts and Crafts.

Trelawny of the "Wells"

Dramatics

The Dramatic Club opened its 1937-38 season in the early part of December with a presentation of E. W. Pinero's sentimental comedy, Trelawney of the "Wells." This play was produced with a cast consisting entirely of seniors. The leads were ably played by Ann Carter See, as Rose Trelawney, the London actress engaged to a scion of the nobility; Jack Green as Arthur Gower, her fiancée; Courtney Heineman as Tom Wrench, a poor young playwright; and Ben Loeb as V. C. Sir William Gower Kt., Arthur's grandfather. Important supporting parts were played by: Peggy Stewart as Miss Trafalgar Gower, Rosamund Wilfley as Imogen Parrot, Edna Edison as Avonia Bunn, Janet Williamson as Mrs. Telfer, Aline Janis as Clara de Foenix, Adele Croninger as Mrs. Mossop, John Farrar as Ferdinand Gadd, Virgil Loeb as Augustus Colpoys, John Stix as James Telfer, Hugh McCulloch as Captain de Foenix, and Bill Orr as O'Dwyer. Other parts were taken by Suzanne Goodbar, Agnes Galt, Jack Bronfenbrenner, Bethune Johnson, R. Hahn, and Burnett Outten.

The next production was an excellent performance of Sidney Howard's comedy, The Late Christopher Bean, in March, with a cast of sophomores. The parts were taken by Hugo Monnig as Dr. Hagget, an old country doctor; Patty Gamble as Abby, the maid, and widow of Christopher Bean; Edith Wiener as Mrs. Hagget; Virginia Cornwell as Susan Hagget; Betty Leschen as Ada Hagget; Gerard Kevil as Warren Creamer, a young painter in love with Susan; Niel Livingston as Tallant, a picture forger; Bob Guidi as Rosen, a shyster picture dealer; and Ted Allen as Davenport, a noted art critic.

Another senior play, Cradle Song, followed. This play, written by Gregorio and Martinez Sierra, is the story of a convent of nuns in Spain before the civil war. Parts were taken by Jean Fisher as Sister Joanna of the Cross; Margaret Latzer as Teresa, the girl adopted into the convent; Helen Euwer as the Prioress; Harriet Manchester as the vicaress; Janet Williamson as the Mother Mistress of the Novices; Dorothy Hager as Sister Marcella; Edith Vorhaus as Sister Maria Jesus; Dorothy Cornwell as Sister Sagrario; Rose Adams as Sister Inez; Adele Croninger as Sister Tornera; Bethune Johnson as the doctor; Hugh McCulloch as Antonio, Teresa's lover; Oather Kelly as a countryman; and Margaret Stockstrom and Elizabeth Smiley as nuns.

At the time of writing, plans were under way for the production of Maxwell Anderson's unusual one-act play, The Feast of the Ortolans. The cast is composed of both seniors and juniors. Parts will be taken by Ben Loeb, John Stix, Virgil Loeb, Ray Hahn, Hope DePew, Jack Bronfenbrenner, Frances Jones, John Farrar, Burnett Outten, Edna Edison, Raynor Chittenden, Courtney Heineman, Gardiner Bridge, Oather Kelly, Bill Orr, and Jack Green.

The season is to be concluded with a presentation of Sir James Barries' famous play, Dear Brutus, with a cast of juniors. The play was produced in the amphitheatre with a cast including Dorothy Gartside, Virginia Christy, Laura Mae Leland, Toni Buder, Lucille Spitzer, Betty Rickey, Richard Frazier, George Hecker, Henry Niedringhaus, Henry Outten and Bob Kerwin. All in all, the season has been a very satisfactory one in both acting and staging.

ATHLETICS

In John Burroughs, from the seventh grade through the senior class, the policy of athletics for all is rigidly maintained. In the first two years, intramural sports of all kinds are engaged in by both the boys and the girls and the teams, chosen at the beginning of the year, compete for a cup award at the close of school. The senior school boys, through the system of "A," "B," and "C" teams, are enabled to participate in interscholastic sports on an equal footing physically; thus each boy, regardless of size, can be a member of an athletic team. The older girls, divided according to classes, engage in both intramural and interscholastic sports, competing for the Interclass Trophy, awarded at the end of the year.

Athletic Council

The athletic council is composed of a group of students, one elected from each advisory group of the four upper classes. It is in charge of athletic awards, and the extra activities of the physical education department. In addition to voting on the athletic awards and distributing the equipment for the various sports, it has the very important responsibility of arranging the athletic banquet given every spring. The banquet is preceded in the morning by a track and field meet for all the students in the school. The council also organizes the support of the various sports under cheer leaders and creates interest in the athletic games played by the various teams.

The prospects for a successful football season were far from bright when candidates were called out in the fall. Only four regulars returned from last year's team, and the squad, as a whole, was light and inexperienced.

However, this squad, besides maintaining excellent physical condition, developed a spirit and determination that carried them through the season with five victories, one tie, and one sole defeat. The team was the first to gain the undisputed "A" division championship in the "ABC" league for Burroughs.

The Blue and Gold started the season with a bang, overwhelming Chaminade, 19 to 0.

Clayton, the next opponent, proved tougher opposition, but not tough enough, the Bombers winning by the margin of one touchdown, 12-7.

The game with Western, the team predicted to win the championship, was quite an upset, Burroughs blanking the Cadets, 19-0.

The fourth consecutive win was at the expense of Principia, 12-0. The unusual warmth hindered both teams from doing their best.

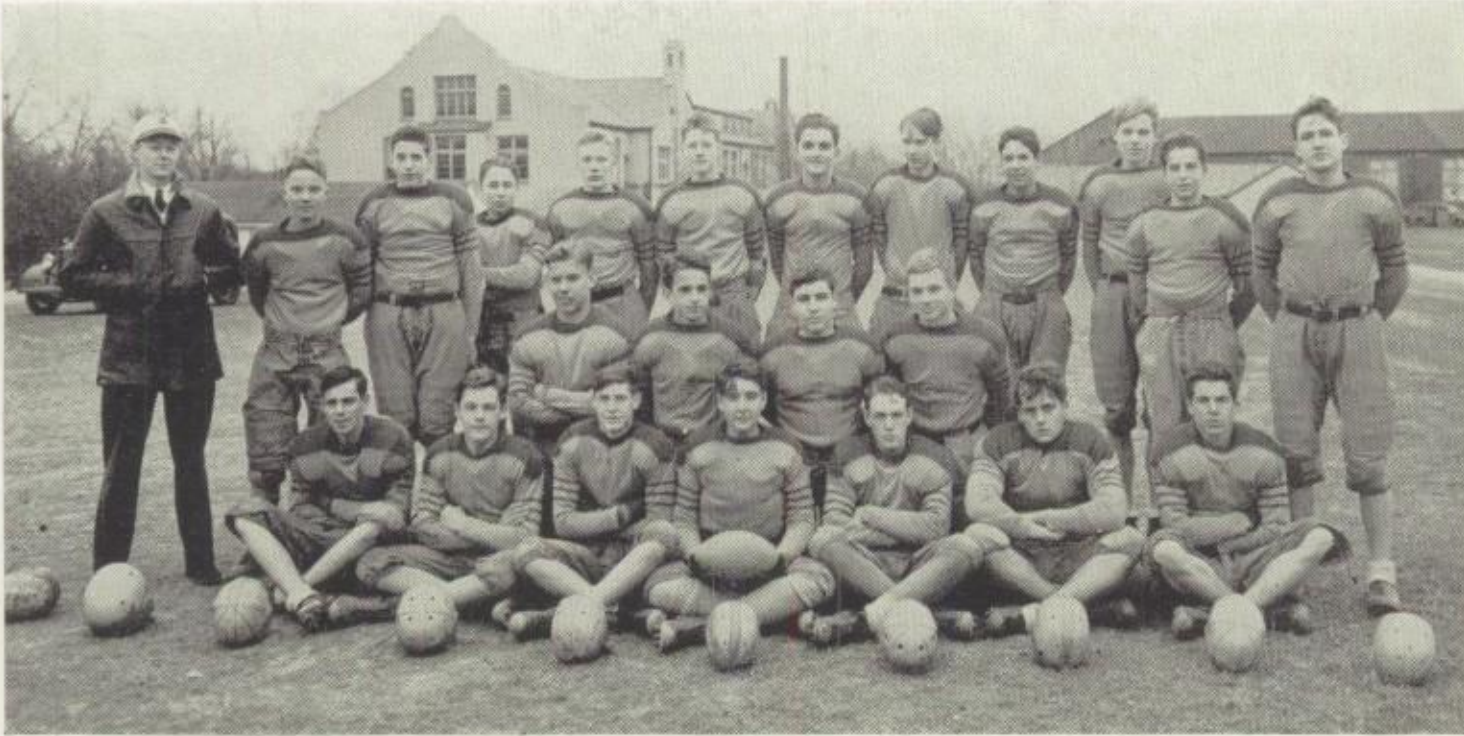

Then hopes for an undefeated team were shattered when the Green and White jerseyed boys from S.S. Catholic journeyed to Burroughs to catch the Bombers on an off day and bring them their first and only defeat, 13-0. The South Siders bucking game proved too much for the Burroughs eleven.

The Blue and Gold came back strongly the following Friday, however, to defeat Wellston High, 13-0.

The final game with Codasco was played in a flurry of snowflakes and with the mercury hovering near the 20° mark. The Burroughs eleven was taken by surprise in the first few minutes of play when the Brown Road lads took the opening kickoff on their own 47 and marched straight down the field and over the goal for the score. The Bombers regained their balance in the second half and put on a sustained fifty-yard drive for a touchdown to nullify Codasco's lead and tie the score with a kick-for-point. The Bombers worked the ball down to the Codasco twenty in the final period but lacked the punch to put it over, the final score standing at 7-7.

"B" Football

Back row: Mr. C. W. Merrifield (coach), D. Martin, P. Sineoff, N. Probst, G. Hecker, B. Klippel, R. Chittenden, H. Monnig, V. Loeb, G. Kevil, J. Bronfenbrenner, R. Kerwin.
Second row: H. Metcalfe, R. Holekamp, R. Guidi, J. Lively
Front row: J. Green, C. Messenger, T. Gettys, G. Pilkington, C. Heineman, P. Fowler, J. Farrar.

The 1937 "B" football season was, on the whole, very successful. The team finished the season with a record of five wins and two losses. At the beginning of the year the team was regarded lightly in the league, yet with serious work upon the part of the boys and their coach, Mr. Merrifield, a team was turned out which placed second in the "B" division.

The first game of the season, a non-league encounter played at Clayton in a driving rain, resulted in a 7-0 Burroughs' victory. In the opening game of the league season, the Bulldogs scored two first-half touchdowns and then held off a determined Principia team to win 12-0. The next Saturday, the Burroughs "B" lost a 14-0 decision to a big, experienced Western squad. Against Country Day, Burroughs resorted to a passing attack and returned home the victors, 13-0.

In the second Western game, the Burroughs defense refused to click and the team was defeated, 19-0. The "B" boys came back the next week, and, with a last minute touchdown, defeated Principia, 13-7. In the last game of the year, the entire team worked together as a unit and as a result, Burroughs defeated Country Day, 14-0. The play of the "B" team on both offense and defense in this final game left little to be desired, and showed the true power of the squad.

"C" Football

Back row: J. Stockton, M. Lammert, F. Schleicher, D. Altvater, A. Harris, N. Livingston, E. Samuels, R. Winkelmeyer, P. Beisman, R. Hagnauer, C. Pollack, Mr. D. S. Leland (coach).
Front row: A. Klippel, T. Stix, H. Melone, D. Eiseman, D. Hollingsworth, E. Shiffrin, S. Heuer, W. Herbert, J. Beisman, D. Charles, I. Sandperl, A. Vorhaus (manager).

The 1937 "C" football team had a rather unsuccessful season in view of games won and lost. However the squad, coached by Mr. Leland, did its best and gave promise, in spite of its poor record, of excellent football material in the future.

In its first game, the Burroughs "C" dropped a decision to Principia in a high-scoring game, 34-12. The next week, facing a big, fast, smooth working attack, Burroughs "C" lost to Western M. A. "C" 42-0. The team closed the first half of the season with a loss to Country Day, 26-12.

In the second Western game, the "C" teamers played their best game of the season, tallying a touchdown against a previously unscored-upon team. However, the Cadets took the game 27-6. The second Principia game also showed great improvement, yet Burroughs was defeated again, 19-6. In the final game of the season, the Country Day "C" team trimmed the Junior Bombers 33-0.

"A" Basketball

*Back row: G. Bridge, B. Merrifield, Mr. G. R. Staten (coach).
Front row: C. Bland, R. Sisler, R. Hume, B. Peden, R. Sante.
Absentees: J. Simmons, B. Reismeyer, R. Will.*

The Blue and Gold started the season in fine form, winning five straight games. Four of these were practice games with Riverview, Ritenour (two games), and Chaminade, respectively. The fifth straight win was at the expense of Western in the first league game, the score being 34-29.

In the next game, the Bombers were handed a severe trouncing by Country Day, 42-26.

The following two games were certainly heart-breakers. Burroughs played well in both games, but luck seemed to be against them. Prin eked out a victory in the first contest, 23-22, and the second was decided in favor of Western on two free throws in the last minute of play, 26-25.

The Bombers could do no better in the second game with Principia on their home court and were defeated to the tune of 29-23.

In the lapse in the schedule before the final league clash with Codasco, two practice games were played with Riverview Gardens and Chaminade. The Blue and Gold overcame Riverview Gardens easily, 45-29, but Chaminade defeated them, 32-28.

The final league game with Codasco was a wild and wooly one in which a total of 31 fouls were committed. Burroughs proved to be much the wilder, however, and came out on the short end of the 35-27 score.

In direct contrast to the Codasco game, the Bombers played their best defensive and offensive game of the year to eliminate Fairview in the first round of the District Tourney, 32-21.

Burroughs then advanced easily to the finals, Taylor and Hancock being swamped under the scores of 38-14 and 44-23, respectively.

In the finals of the "B" division of the tournament, Chaminade obtained an early lead over the Bombers and played a slow, careful game the rest of the way to come out on top, 34-27.

The "A" basketball season turned out to be as much of a paradox as was the varsity football season. The Bombers were generally conceded the basketball crown, but succeeded in winning only one of their six league battles. If one takes in the whole season's record, however, including non-league games and games played in the District Tournament, the totals, nine games won and seven lost, are not so bad.

"B" Basketball

Front row: J. Bronfenbrenner, H. Metcalfe, B. Merrell, J. Green, R. Chittenden, P. Sincoff, C. Heineman.

The 1938 "B" basketball season was a poor one for Burroughs, the Bulldogs gaining only two victories out of eight starts, placing third in the ABC league. The team was beset with a lack of practice during the early part of the season that jeopardized its first few chances to win. By the middle of the season, the team was showing a good deal of fight, and gave indications of producing some victories. However, it was not until the very last of the season that the team presented a truly formidable attack, and played enough as a team to gain a decisive victory.

The "B" team opened up its season in a practice game with Clayton just after the Christmas vacation. It suffered a 32-15 defeat. The Bulldogs were also defeated in their second encounter with Clayton, 30-13.

After this poor showing in its pre-season games, the Burroughs team lost to the Western Cadets, 24-9, in a sloppy game played in the girls' gym. The team showed a great deal more fight in its second league encounter, at Codasco, which it nevertheless lost, 21-10.

It was in the Principia game that the Bulldogs really began to show serious fight, overcoming their opponents by a 21-16 score on the opponents' floor.

But this didn't last, and, showing an amazing reverse of form, the team lost to Western a second time, 23-8, in a game played at Alton. The following week, in its second encounter with Prin, the Burroughs team played a very poor game on the home floor, losing by the score of 19-11.

In the last game of the season, the Bulldogs emerged victorious from a heated 25-23 contest with Codasco, the heretofore undefeated league leaders. In that game, the Burroughs team showed a form superior to any other team in the ABC league.

"C" Basketball

Back row: B. Sandperl, R. Hagnauer, H. Melone, E. Samuels, D. Eiseman, D. Hollingsworth, Mr. C. W. Merrifield (coach).
Fourth row: A. Vorhaus, D. Martin, J. Beisman, W. Herbert, E. Shifrin, D. Horner.

Handicapped by an advantage of size held by the other teams of the ABC league, the John Burroughs "C" team went through a rather mediocre season this year, winning three games and losing five.

The boys, under the direction of Coach Charles Merrifield, started out the season with a 26-13 victory over Wydown School. Following this, another contest with Wydown resulted in a 16-12 victory for Burroughs. In their first league game of the season, the "C" team lost to Western, 14-21. This game was followed by successive losses to Codasco, 17-30; Principia, 11-13; and Western, 25-32. In the last half of this Western contest, Burroughs began to show the real ability that they possessed, as in that half, they outscored the Cadets 20-9. In their next game, the "C" team defeated Prin, 24-18, for their only league victory of the year.

The final game of the season with Country Day was a nip-and-tuck battle throughout. Behind 7-1 at the quarter, the "C" team rallied to make the score 13-10 for Burroughs, going into the final period. Unable to hold that lead, however, the "C" teamers lost the game, 15-18.

"A" Soccer

Back row: R. Livingston, T. Gettys, R. Leland, B. Royston, P. Adams, T. Fowler, C. Renard, J. Lively, Mr. D. S. Leland (coach).
Front row: N. Probststein, H. McGulloch, O. Kelly, J. Leschen, W. Orr, J. Farrar, J. Stupp.

The "A" soccer team won the ABC league championship by defeating Country Day 1-0 in a hard fought game. This is the seventh championship team for Burroughs in the last ten years. The "Bombers" played a total of six league games of which they won three, tied two, and lost one.

The first game was a non-league contest with Chaminade. The "Bombers" lost this practice game by a score of 3-0. In the next game the team opened its league series with a defeat over Western by a score of 1-0. In the second league game the "Bombers" tied Principia 1-1. With one win and one tie in ABC league competition, the Blue and Gold next faced Country Day and played to a 0-0 score. The fifth game and second non-league practice game was played with Chaminade in a sea of mud. Although both teams played their best game, neither was able to score. In the second game with Western, Burroughs again won by one goal. The rematch with Principia was disastrous: With the best record in the league, Burroughs had a mental lapse and kicked a goal for Principia, thus beating themselves. This loss made the next and final game of the season with Country Day the most important of all. Only the winning of this game would prevent the losing of the championship. With the thought of winning foremost in their minds, the "Bombers" played and won this all important game by the score of 1-0.

Baseball

Back row: Mr. G. R. Staten (coach), J. Simmons, J. Green, R. Smith, N. Probst, W. Herbert, D. Martin, J. Bronfenbrenner (manager).
Front row: C. Heineman, G. Bridge, R. Sante, R. Sisler, B. Reismeyer, B. Peden, R. Hume, O. Kelly.

The season started with almost the complete championship team of 1937, and it was expected that the baseball team would have a clean sweep this year. So far they have more than lived up to expectations. With our star pitcher of last year, Joe Doughty, gone, the pitching staff was the chief worry, but Gardiner Bridge and Dick Sisler have so capably taken over the pitching duties that this end of the team seems well handled.

Behind the excellent pitching of Bridge and Sisler, the Bombers scored a clean cut victory over Chaminade in the opening game. Score: 11-5.

Following this game, the team played Ritenour at Burroughs in a game characterized chiefly by errors. Lasting far into the afternoon, the contest was finally called on account of darkness with the score tied 8 to 8.

Next, came another game with Chaminade, and another defeat for the Red Devils, as Bridge's shutout pitching held the Chaminade men to a 3 to 0 score.

The first league game of the season was with Western, on our own field. With Bridge again turning in a shutout performance, the Bombers, paced by the hitting of Sisler and Peden, defeated the Cadets 8 to 0, keeping their perfect record.

Sisler did the pitching honors in the next game, defeating Kirkwood 8 to 2 on the Pioneers' field. He added two more hits to his already high total.

Turning in their finest game of the year, the Bombers defeated Country Day by a score of 5 to 0. Another brilliant job on the mound by Bridge ran his number of scoreless innings to 18, while the rest of the team came through with wonderful support, both with the bat and with their excellent fielding.

In their next game, the Bombers defeated Kirkwood by a score of 8 to 1. Sisler did the pitching and allowed only three hits.

With only three games left to play to complete the season, the baseball team shows great promise of winning the championship again, and ending the season undefeated.

The track and field team, at the beginning of the season, was severely handicapped by lack of experience. Graduation last June had taken a heavy toll of sprinters and field men, and had left Mr. Leland with little to work with this year. In spite of the bad outlook, the team has worked hard and is improving rapidly.

The season was opened at Columbia, in the State Indoor Meet, and returned home with five points, the result of Bob Leland's victory in the 60-yard hurdles. Leland is the first Burroughs athlete to gain a first place in this meet.

In the first league meet of the season, Burroughs journeyed to Western. This contest resulted in a 73½ to 39½ victory for Western. Four Burroughs boys won 35 of the team's points, Sisler winning fifteen with one first place, three seconds and a third, Leland with one first and two seconds collecting eleven points, and Fowler and Niedringhaus together getting nine points in the distance races.

The first league victory came at the expense of Principia, 60-53. The result of the meet was not decided until the running of the 880-yard relay, in which Burroughs was the victor. Outstanding in this victory was the work of the relay team, Livingston, Guidi, Obourn, and Leland. The usual fine performances of Sisler in the hurdles and the field events and Fowler in the mile and the 880 added to the interest of the meet.

Two weeks later Burroughs entered the Clayton Invitational Meet and placed third behind St. Charles and Principia in a large field of entries. Burroughs held second position until Principia's victory in the medley relay gave them a final advantage of one point over our track team. Final point totals were St. Charles 52½, Principia 28½, and Burroughs 27½. Outstanding again was the work of Leland in winning the low hurdles and placing second in the highs, Fowler's victory in the mile in very fast time, and the triumph of the 880-yard relay team.

With three meets remaining on the schedule, the general improvement of the team gives an optimistic outlook for a victory against Country Day, a fine showing in the State Outdoor Meet, and in the ABC League Medal Meet.

Tennis

*Back row: Mr. F. W. Horner (coach), P. Sincoff, B. Merrifield, W. Orr, W. Frank (manager).
Front row: J. Stix, D. Horner, J. Farrar.*

With four of last year's lettermen returning, prospects for a good tennis season were bright. Dave Horner, John Stix, Bill Orr, and John Farrar, together with two boys new to the team this year, Bruce Merrifield and Philip Sincoff, composed the squad.

At the time of writing, the team had a record of two victories and four defeats, but seemed to be steadily improving.

Both victories of the season were gained over Chaminade by scores of 3-2 and 4-1. The first league match with Principia was dropped by the score of 5-0. This was followed by a defeat at the hands of Western, 3-2. Against Country Day the boys showed considerable improvement over their previous playing, losing by a 1-4 score. Farrar and Merrifield furnished the victory by winning the important doubles 8-6, 3-6, 8-6.

In the latest match played, Burroughs dropped a bitter and hard struggle to Western, 3-2. Each match went to three sets, Burroughs winning two singles, but failing to provide the winning punch necessary for a victory in the doubles.

The two remaining matches with Principia and Country Day should be close if the Burroughs players continue to improve at their present rate.

Varsity Hockey

Back row: P. Jones, S. Fraser, K. Rice, B. Barr, L. M. Leland, B. Place, B. Stockstrom.
Second row: P. McPheeters, M. Latzer, D. Cornwell, E. Smiley, M. Stockstrom, E. Vorhaus.
Front row: R. Adams, J. Stewart, J. Williamson, S. Barr, H. Eiseman, R. Wilfley.
Absentees: A. Croninger, H. Depew.

The varsity hockey team, under the direction of Miss Beaman, was the finest John Burroughs has seen for many years. Not only was the squad larger, but the individual ability of the players was greater than that of the teams in the past. The varsity hockey team, in the mind of its coach, played a much more advanced game than ever before, and as the ability of each member of the group was greater, the competition for the various positions was keener.

Four games were scheduled for the team in the fall, two with Principia, and one each with Monticello College and the St. Louis Hockey Club. However, weather conditions forced the cancellation of both of the contests with Principia.

The first varsity game of the season was against the St. Louis Hockey Club. Without sufficient practice, the John Burroughs team was not so well organized as it might have been, and as a result went down to defeat before its more experienced opponents, 6-1. The game with Monticello was extremely fast and proved a new experience for the Burroughs team. Trailing by two points until the final minutes of play, Monticello pushed in two goals to tie the final score 2-2.

Senior Girls' "A" Team

Back row: J. Williamson, S. Simpson, E. Vorhaus, H. Eiseman.
Second row: R. Wilfley, B. Place, S. Barr, E. Smiley, M. Stockstrom.
Front row: M. Latzer, R. Adams, J. Stewart, D. Cornwell.
Absentees: A. Croninger, J. Blue, A. C. See, J. Fisher.

This year's graduating class is undoubtedly the most outstanding in girls' athletics that has ever been at Burroughs. For the past three years, they have won first place in every sport except baseball, which they lost by default in the tenth grade. Even as Freshmen they won one competition, soccer; and came within a half a point of winning basketball. This year their hockey team was especially good, everyone of its members playing on the varsity. Their basketball team was also excellent; in fact not one of their "A" teams was defeated, for there were always more than enough good players obtainable in every sport. The spirit of perseverance, cooperation, and genuine interest in athletics, though it lagged quite often as the duties of a Senior became heavier, never was lacking in this class. Naturally endowed with unusual ability, they found it was perhaps a little too easy to win. However, the team showed sportsmanship, as well as proficiency, and its record is truly enviable.

Our Junior class this year, it seems, has (as they have had all the way through school) a greater interest in the more "spiritual" aspects of life than in the energetic and muscle-developing sports, which come under the title of gym. Strangely enough, though, in spite of the fact that nine of the girls were permanently excused from physical education this year, the spirit of the remaining seventeen, instead of being dampened by this loss, grew immensely better. So their record, when we consider the small number of girls who actually participated, is, if not commendable, certainly not to be looked down upon. They started off well with an excellent hockey team, which won its only interscholastic game, and six of whose members were on the varsity. In basketball, they started out poorly, but made the greatest improvement of any team during the year. Their best team was in volleyball. The Juniors ranked about third among the classes, having reached that position in the majority of the interclass competitions.

The tenth grade has been adept in athletics, and has been a serious menace to the Seniors. In all of the tournaments so far, with the single exception of hockey, they have placed second to the Seniors—and a very uncomfortably close second. The ability of this class seems to be easily adapted to any sport, as is their enthusiasm for any and every field of athletics. During their free time, they may be seen shooting baskets in the gym, playing baseball between the building and the gym, or playing hockey or soccer on the practice field. The most noteworthy point about this is that they do all of this as a class, not as a few ardent individuals. During the year they rivaled the Senior class in their ability in every sport offered, and had several members on the varsity hockey team.

The ninth graders followed a varied program of athletics. In the fall, all efforts were concentrated on hockey, a game which has always proved a favorite at John Burroughs. The girls worked long and eagerly in an effort to enlarge their knowledge of the game, and to improve their abilities. This year, the ninth grade gave every indication of a promising team, although they placed fourth in the interclass tournament.

At the close of the hockey season soccer was begun, followed closely by basketball. Again the Freshmen proved themselves excellent participants, and, against the stiff competition of the upper classmen, ended the season in third place, with a record of five victories and ten defeats.

In the spring, baseball, tennis and track rounded out the ninth grade program, providing excellent fun, as well as teaching them a spirit of cooperation, so invaluable to them in their later years at Burroughs.

Junior School Athletics

This year the rivalry between the Blue and Gold teams has been keen. The Blues are ahead in hockey and basketball; the Golds in soccer. As yet, the rest of the games have not been concluded, but the contests promise to be very close.

The spirit of the Blues and Golds is decidedly competitive. They developed a spirit of team co-operation and good-sportsmanship, as well as a foundation for further competition in the Senior School.

The seventh grade received instructions in tennis. The eighth is far enough advanced to play tournaments, which are well-worth watching.

The Army and Navy teams this year were well fortified by boys who showed a keen interest in their athletic programs and who displayed genuine and versatile ability throughout the varied program of their athletic year.

In football, Winkelmeyer and Art Stockstrom were the Army captains, while Stockton and Post were the able leaders of the two Navy teams. Winkelmeyer and Stockton split their series of eight games, each winning and losing four. Post's aggregation came out on top in each of their eight struggles with Art Stockstrom's team, although several were very close and bitterly fought.

In basketball, there were really four leagues of two teams each who played seven games. Lasker, Army captain, led his team to victories over Martin in five of their seven-game series. Vollmar's team made up for these defeats, however, and captured six of the games from the opposing Army team, led by Bixby. The Army team, led by Corneli, came out on top in the third league by a narrow margin, winning four of the seven games. As if to show that the Navy had just as many good players as did the Army, Longmire evened up the whole season by leading his team to conquest over Hagee's Army team in five of the total of seven games played.

The baseball season is well under way at the present writing. The captains who have been selected are Bixby and Hagee for Army; and Stockton and Post for the Navy. Both Army teams seem to be superior to their rivals in this sport. Bixby has won four and lost one in the encounters of his team with Stockton's, while Hagee has won three out of three against Post.

FEATURES

In addition to the regular academic work, athletics, and extra-curricular activities, there are a number of miscellaneous features of school life, which give John Burroughs an individuality and make it live forever in our memories. In the following pages, we can present some of these features; the others we merely mention: the "B" Club Dance, given by the lettermen at the close of the football season; the Senior Girls' Palm Beach Dance; a "leap-year" party, given to aid the publications; and the Senior-Junior party, a return compliment of the Junior Prom. It is these additional features of school life that make John Burroughs what it is, a democratic school where boys and girls can work together in a spirit of co-operation and informality.

Christmas Pageant

The annual John Burroughs Christmas Pageant was held on the afternoon of December 22nd, and was well attended by relatives, friends, and former students. Always an awe inspiring occasion, this was one of the loveliest.

A speaking chorus, composed of ninth grade boys and girls, was led by McKim Marriot. Two singing choruses were under the direction of Mr. Weinrich. Solos were sung by two members of the Junior School, Susan Will and Dudley Sachs. The rest of the program included the reading, by the narrators Dorothy Cornwell and Ross Hamilton, of the story of the Christ Child, as well as carols sung by the students. Pages of the large carol books were turned by Arthur Stockstrom, David Longmire, Jack Porter, and Julie Miller. The outstanding moment of the pageant came when the curtains were drawn, revealing Mary, Joseph, and four angels. The scene, designed by Aline Janis, was a copy of a Della Robia plaque, the figures being enhanced by a circle of fruit. The roles of Mary and Joseph were taken by Helen Eiseman and Gardiner Bridge, and those of the angels by Bethune Johnson, William Reismeyer, Mary Fuller, and Irene Smyth. While the tableau was being displayed, Rose Adams sang "Lullaby."

Junior Prom

The annual Junior Promenade was given in the large gymnasium on Friday evening, April 22nd, from nine until one o'clock. Art Kruth and his thirteen-piece band pleased exceedingly by their popular tunes and short intermissions. The party, given by the Juniors for the Seniors, and attended by about three hundred and fifty guests, was a huge success in every respect. The decoration idea was carried through as a flower garden. Beautiful pine trees lined the walls. They were accentuated by a low white picket fence that inclosed the dance floor and gave an atmosphere of depth to the pine forest. The fence was enlivened by climbing roses. Nearly six hundred large silver stars were suspended from the ceiling, giving an excellent illusion of the out of doors. A lane formed by the white fencing decorated the entrance from the small gym, in which punch and cookies were served throughout the evening. According to custom, the members of the Board of Trustees and the Faculty were invited, in addition to the parents of the class officers, to serve in the capacity of chaperones.
